THE H. C. MURRAY CO.

swerved across the front yard of one of the American Thread company's tenements and crashed into the house occupied by the Misses Foley at No. 283. The car struck the house a glancing blow and then crashed into the steps leading into the tenement, completely tearing away the center stone of the front steps. The striking of the house tore off a 2x12 board just above the foundation walls. The shock of the collision caused confusion within the house, pictures on the walls, bric-a-brac in mantels and plastering being showered about the floor. Mrs. Julia Connell, in the next tenement, was frightened at the crash, and Patrick Connell stated that he was staggered at the impact. "Jack" Connell, who was in the cellar of the tenement, ran for the outside, believing there had been an earthquake.

Constable Edgar H. Richmond happened to be in the vicinity and after looking over the damage he took Blanchette in custody and notified Chief Kilbourn. Blanchette told the officers that he was going at a rate of about 20 miles an hour. According to his story, when he was about opposite No. 4 mill race and automobile was being driven out had been turned to the left. Another automobile was coming directly in front of him and his only chance was to swing on to the sidewalk, which he did. He denied that the car was out of control. Blanchette and his two passengers en route to Scotland escaped without injury, although the car escaped without injury.

Recipe for Our Pioneer Mothers for the home treatment of ailments were wonderfully dependable. True, they knew nothing of drugs, but owed their success to the roots, herbs and barks of the field. It is interesting to note that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the most successful remedy for female ailments we have, was originally prepared for home use from one of these recipes. Its fame has now spread from shore to shore, and thousands of American women now well and strong claim they owe their health and happiness to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

was well over on it some after nothing the house.

Measurements taken on the site of the accident showed that the car crossed some 20 yards of lawn before striking the house and that the brakes on the car had been applied as it reached the sidewalk. The four-wheel drive in the lawn testifying to this. The house was damaged to some extent, but the automobile aside from being put out of commission received only a crushed rear mudguard and cracked spokes in the left front wheel. The rear right tire was punctured and in the opinion of automobile drivers might have added to the cause of the accident.

Over 500 hunting licenses have been taken out in the town of Windham this season. This number exceeds that of 1919 by a goodly sum and can partly be based on the return of many of Windham's boys from the service. Hunting is good this fall and many have returned home from a trip with a good bag. One local hunter has bagged nearly 200 ducks this far this season. The fine eating and the good sport he can realize from the selling of the furs has made it a profitable season.

Funeral services for Harold G. Williams were held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at St. Paul's Episcopal church, services being conducted by Rev. Walter F. Borcher, rector. Burial was in the Windham Center cemetery. Arrangements were by Jay M. Shepard.

The death of Anastasia Zagara, the 6-year-old daughter of Dick and Rose Attardo Zagara of No. 30 Schoolhouse lane, resulted Wednesday night from pneumonia. Funeral services were held from the home of her parents at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon, with burial in St. Joseph's cemetery. The child is survived by her parents, three brothers and four sisters.

JEWETT CITY

Miss Alice Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Smith, was pleasantly surprised at her home on Highland street Wednesday evening when many of her friends called to celebrate her seventeenth birthday.

During the evening several songs were sung by Miss Alice Smith, Messrs. Chas. Harrington and John Leclair; also by a quartette by John and Edgar Harrington, William Symington and Charles Harrington. Miss Alice Smith gave several piano selections accompanied by her father on the piano.

At 11 o'clock in the dining room there was a supper of boiled ham, potato salad, sweet pickles, fancy cookies, cakes, rolls, coffee and ice cream. Fruit was also served. In the center of the table was a large birthday cake, made by Mrs. George Seymour and with candles gaily lighted during the supper.

After supper dancing was enjoyed in the kitchen, a feature being a buck and wing dance by Charles Harrington when he was warmly applauded.

Beautiful and useful presents were received, among them a large sum of money. The party and dining room were decorated with flowers and ferns.

Among those present were Messrs. Symington, Edgar Harrington, Amelia Moroney, Grace and Claire Sullivan, Selma Peterson and Ethel Lewis of Norwich, Elizabeth and Anna Peterson of Taunton, and Charles Harrington, William Symington, Leonard L. Hume, John and Edgar Leclair, Everett Miller, William Smith, Walter Peterson and Homer Harrington.

After the party William Smith took Misses Selma Peterson, Ethel Lewis, Anna and Elizabeth Bailey to their homes by machine.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

CONNECTIONS COLLEGE HAS LECTURE-RECITAL COMING

The convocation hour of Connecticut College on November 10th will be filled by Daniel Johnson, professor of music at Connecticut University, who will give a lecture-recital at 4 p. m.

Connecticut College is unusually fortunate in being able to present to the public one who has attracted nationwide recognition both as lecturer and author. Mr. Johnson's lecture deals with the study of music itself, its style, meaning, and structure looked at from the point of view of the listener.

The increasing popularity of such a lecture indicates the growing demand of educated Americans to develop appreciation of the best music. Mr. Johnson has lectured at Harvard University, Chicago University, Brooklyn Institute of Fine Arts and Sciences, The Washington Society of Fine Arts, Normal College, New York, and many other organizations. His lecture will be given in two hundred and fifty lectures before the New York board of education. These lectures are popular and of interest to all who have a knowledge of music, as well as to students of music.

The Cell Agency Sells Another Fine Recital.

Artha W. Coit has sold for Harry and Lena Rushworth of Boston, Mass., the tract of land on Main street formerly occupied by them on Baker street near West street. The house built about five years ago, was recently sold to the wood finish throughout, it has all improvements including an overhauled steam boiler. The house is large and level and is situated on a corner of the property gives a pleasing rustic environment. It will be the future home of the purchasers, Mr. and Mrs. David R. Coit.

Irish Tunes to Sing Here

Allen McGuire, Irish tenor, who sings at the Community house on Nov. 5th was a farmhand in Maine a few years ago. Born in Wicklow county, Ireland, he began his studies for the priesthood, but was seized with a youthful desire to visit the great northwest of America, so he accepted the first position offered and finally accumulated enough money to buy a farm of his own.

Then it occurred that there was a romance connected with his visit to America. He had come for the purpose of making a home and then going back to marry a young woman living in Ireland. Just before his return his sister advised him that the girl of his choice had married someone else. He was disappointed and returned to his native land in despair. He was in the city of New York when he was "discovered" for the concert stage.

His music soon attracted attention, and he was soon engaged by a manager. He has since been singing in the city of New York and in other places. He is now singing in the city of New York and in other places.

BOLTON

Mrs. Walter E. Howe and daughter, Mrs. James Watson Phelps, entertained a party of friends last week Thursday afternoon. The afternoon was spent in a most enjoyable manner. The party was given in the Bolton hall last Saturday evening by members of Bolton Grange to raise money to pay for a piano just purchased. The story of the adventures of a girl entitled "The Frolic of the Vithes" by the young ladies dressed as witches, led by Miss M. L. Jones, and Miss Jones, and reading by Miss Gertrude Cowlishaw of Hartford. The play was excellent. Little Miss Cowlishaw, who is about 10 years of age, has a wonderful ability and delighted her audience. After the program the Victor orchestra of Manchester played for dancing. The hall was crowded with Jack of lanterns and footlights of crepe paper.

Miss J. Finley and son, Elmer Finley, Jr., of New York have been spending a few days at their summer home in Bolton. Several from here went to Glastonbury last Sunday: Miss Louise J. Hutchinson, who is attending Mt. Holyoke; Miss Elizabeth Sumner, who is at the New Haven grammar school; Margaret Abord, from Yale, and Edward B. McGuire, from Fordham university.

Miss Lavinia C. Price has returned after two weeks' visit with her sister in Newbury, Mass., and Leonard Bridge. One hundred and fifty-one votes were cast at the Tuesday election out of the 161 electors of Bolton. The republicans elected all their ticket except representative; Fred D. Finley, democrat, defeated Charles M. Finney, republican. The republican electors received 75 votes and the democratic electors 84. Doughnuts and coffee were served.

ANDOVER

The Salvation Army band from South Manchester came to the town hall last Friday evening and gave an entertainment which was heard by a large number of townspeople and was highly enjoyed.

Several from here went to Glastonbury last Thursday night to a chicken pie supper which all relished, as the Glastonbury certainly know how to go up a nice supper.

The town of Andover next republicans in the election. George Merritt was elected representative.

Charles Loomer, a resident of the town for over 30 years, has sold his place and expects to leave town soon and go to Florida this winter.

Emmy Whelan in Drama of the Marston at the Strand.

Emmy Whelan, the beautiful gold-haired, brown-eyed star of "Lifting Shadows" on the London Perseus-Pathe feature attraction at the Strand theatre today and Saturday, is supported by William H. Hays, Stuart Holmes, Julia Swaine, Gordon and others.

"Lifting Shadows" is a drama of 10 days. It depicts the struggle of a woman who is driven to live for a man and her love for the country of the adoption—America. Henry Ardel is the author and Leonore Perret the producer-director and adapter.

The second feature, "The Daughter of Devil Man," which is appearing at the Strand theatre today and Saturday, an officer is saved in the Kentucky hills from one of the notorious gangs which infest this country. Miss Irma Harrison is the wife of a girl who performs this feat, while Kemp Drummond plays the part of the officer. The comedy, Napoleon and Sally, Bray Comic, Strand says so.
